

ST PAUL AND ST MARGARET'S CHURCH

NIDD, NORTH YORKSHIRE

St Michael - South Chancel
(0.8m x 1.9m) 2008

The window is in memory of 17th Viscount Mountgarret and shows the Archangel Michael, the warrior saint and Captain General of the host of Heaven, with his attributes of a sword and scales of judgement representing the victory of good over evil. St Michael is an appropriate choice to support the memory of the late Viscount recognising his military career and strong belief in justice.

St Michael is depicted descending over open Yorkshire countryside with the river Nidd flowing through both lights of the window. Within the landscape are images associated with the Viscount's interests in nature and sport and his particular love of cricket.

The memorial inscription at the base of the right-hand light reads: To the Glory of God and in memory of Richard 17th Viscount Mountgarret 1937-2004. The lettering is by Charles Smith FRSA.
